

TERRIER

"A REAL GO-GETTER"

Airedale Terrier – Australian Terrier – Border Terrier – Cairn Terrier – Fox Terrier – Irish Terrier – Jack Russell Terrier – Kerry Blue Terrier – Lakeland Terrier – Manchester Terrier – Miniature Schnauzer – Norfolk Terrier – Scottish Terrier – Sealyham Terrier – Skye Terrier – Welsh Terrier – West Highland Terrier – Wheaten Terrier – Yorkshire Terrier – mixes of any of the above breeds

You'll fall in love with your terrier because she's:

Dynamic – She has a big, fun, bold, and witty personality.

Independent – She isn't particularly clingy and knows how to self-entertain.

Always Ready – At the drop of a hat, she's poised for action.

You might find a terrier hard to live with because she's:

Got a One-Track-Mind –

When she sets her sights on something, you may be invisible to her.

Got a Thing for Little Critters

She can be dangerous to animals she confuses with Vermin.

Hyperactive – You may wonder if she's ADHD due to the amount of energy she has.

You might find yourself seeking professional help for:

- Difficulty following directions
- Dramatic or unmanageable behavior when walking on the leash
- Excessive barking in the house or yard
- Mischief and trouble making, such as digging up your garden or rummaging through the laundry basket; stirring things up with any family member or pet who she can get a rise out of; stealing things and ripping them into unrecognizable pieces
- Predatory behavior toward animals
- Obsessive spinning, tail-chasing, or preoccupation with toys or other targets like the TV
- Competitiveness or bossiness with other dogs in the home

Learning Environment Genetics Self

Family Dog Mediation[®]
understanding • changing everything